FUTURE • IN • SIGHT

Once a year, executives from major building product manufacturing firms, design and contracting firms, and industry associations come together to get the vital information they need to solve real business challenges.

McGraw-Hill Construction invites you to join other senior-level industry executives on October 24-25, 2007, for the 69th annual Outlook Executive Conference, and get a first-hand view of the trends that will be affecting the construction industry in 2008.

Special Registration Opportunity

The ENR Construction Business Forum is being held one day prior to the Outlook 2008 Executive Conference. The ENR Forum brings together experts on risk management to discuss new ways of assessing financial risk, and will also offer insight into firms that use Building Information Modeling, and they their BIM strategy spells success for their firms.
